The Nashville Banner, of Thursday, gave the old version to the "How-high do-the-stockings-come" story told in the Argal a few days ago, and which actually occurred in this city as we chronicled it. Probably the old version passed current as new in Nashville.

—A fire-cistern has been dug at the crossing of Georgia street and Rayburn avenue, which was yesterday filled, by one of the fire-cogines, from the bayou adjacent. The sistern was much needed, as the engines were entirely powerless to act at a couple of fires that occurred recently in that vicinity.

—To-morrow the remains of Mr. H. L. Heston, who died of yellow-fever last fall, will be escorted to Nashville by a guard of boor of the Knights of Pythias, Mesors, J. S. Jukes, W. H. Moyston, and J. E. Russell, who are also delegates to the grand lodge of this order. The Reights will accompany the remains to the depot.

who give his name as Belmont had been drinking and fighting in Sardis the day previous, and I had also been requested by the mayor to arrest him. I turned Belmont over to an authorized party at Como, for him to take him to Sardis; I then piaced the prisoner McCarty on train No. I for Memphis. This was done upon the advice of responsible citizens of Como, and I deemed it all the more proper as Mr. McCarty was willing to accompany me to Memphis, and did not want to go to Sardis. Upon arriving with my prisoner at Horn Lake the following telegram was handed me by the conductor, Robi. M. Leech, as soon as the train stopped: Como, Miss., February 8, 1874.

After reading this dispatch I got off the train with my prisoner for the purpose of obtaining some information and advice as to the proper course which I should pursue. Upon consultation with leading citizens, who advised me to carry the prisoner to Memphis, I determined to do so. In a short while I received the following telegram Cono, M ss., February 6, 1874.

I was surprised to read this telegram, which is a forgery. At the time of its date I was over twenty n.iles from Sardis, and know nothing about it. I did not authorize any one to send this or any other dispatch. I left Sardis at daylight, and had nothing whatever to do with the telegram. I so informed Mr. Flynn, whom I told it was a forgery. He then gave me a copy of the forged message.

Flynn, having this day complained to me, on oath, that John McCarthy, late of said county, did, on the third day of February, 1874, in said county, and within the jurisdiction of the circuit court of said county, felonfously, wilfully, deliberately and maliciously burn and consume, with fire, the buildings and houses of the Louis-ville and Nashville railroad company, against the peace and dignity of the State.

[Signed.] E. W. CALDWELL, J. P. IN POSSESSION OF A CONSTARLE.

IN POSSESSION OF A CONSTABLE. In pursuance with the above warrant, Constable Matt Shelby took possession of McCarthy, and landed him in fail upon a millimus issued by Justice Caldwell. LODGED IN JAIL.

McCarthy made a statement to Constable shelby similar to that made to Mr. J. T. Goolsty. He was not very communicative, however, and did not seek any conversation with he constable, who spoke to him concerning its misfortunes. A preliminary trial will be add before Justice Caldwell at half-past ten clock this morning. o'clock this morning.

THE CAPTOR. The captor, Mr. Goolsby, is quite a young man, and deserves great credit for his energy and tact in tracing up the lugitives and arresting tnem. His action in bringing McCarthy to Memphis was both proper and wise, and will be indorsed by every intelligent CAPTAIN GEORGE O. SALE, the well-Dr. John Gordon returned to the city yesterday after an absence of several months at the springs in Alabama. We are informed that he did not come alone, and in his character as a benedict we wish him all the success and happiness that, as a clever gentleman, he richly deserves.

A CHANCE FOR EVERYBODY.

The wisdom of the postponement of the Kentucky Library Grand Gift Concert to the thirty-first of March next, is beyond dis-pute. With over $1,000,000 on deposit in bank to pay gifts, and that under the mest adverse to pay gifts, and that under the mest adverse circumstances, there can be no doubt now of a full drawing, when the holders of the lucky tickets will receive such spiendid cash prizes as 2250,000, $100,000, $50,000, $50,000, etc. If is now positively announced that there will be no further postponement, therefore every one will supply themselves with tickets, and every ticket will be sold before the day of the concert.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Theater. A serio-comic drama of the sensation A serio-comic drama of the sensational order, with the peculiar title of Darling, was produced last night at the Theater, on the occasion of the farewell benefit of Miss Marian Mordaunt. It is a piece of the protean order, and, in fact, is really intended as a vehicle to exhibit the versatile talents of the "star," who portrayed half a dozen characters of a totally dissimilar nature to perfection, alternating as they did from the lady of society to the old colored woman of the past decade, with an Irish Biddy and an Emerald Isle boy thrown in to give diversity to the several thrown in to give diversity to the severa scenes. In all the characters Miss Mordaun scenes. In all the characters Miss Mordaunt showed that she is au fult in make-up and dialogue, and that which is most rollicking as an actress; she can sing an Irish song and dance a lig in a style to call forth the heartlest applause. The plot is laid in the south during the regime of the Confederacy, but it was most amusing to see the "boys in gray" walk on in ancient continental uniforms. The piece, however taken as a whole was wall placed on lowever, taken as a whole, was well pla the stage and well dressed, but it dialogue and several of the scen could be pruned and improved to great advantage. Mrs. Claude Hamilton shared the hours in the character of "Laura Tremaine while Messrs. Lang, Moreland, Knowles, Sut eriand and Sheppard, and Miss Ada Gilman Miss Roberts and Miss Anderson, all contrib whed, by their fine acting, to the success of the piece. At the matinee this afternoon, and in the evening, Darting will be repeated, and is certain to attract large audiences.

Professor Mueller's success as a teacher of dancing in this city is unprecedented, having now a larger class than any teacher ever before could boast. This speaks volumes o praise for him. Being thoroughly au fait in all that pertains to his profession, and posair that pertains to his profession, and pos-sessed of a wonderful tact in imparting what he knows to his pupils, he has acquired for himself here already a popularity seldom won in so short a time. His regular Saturday mat-inee takes place this afternoon at the Mem-puis club hall, to which the professor extends a cordial invitation to the citizens of Mem-phis. Two hundred, or more, of his pupils will be in attendance and on the floor, which will be in attendance and on the floor, which alone is a most attractive feature of the occasion. The wonderful proficiency in the terp sichorean art to which his pupils have airead; arrived will astonish every one. Go to Professor Mueller's matinee dansante.

> The Action of the Association Unreservedly Indorsed, and the Secretary Exenerated.

To Hon, J. R. Filippin, Judge of the criminal court of Shelby county:
It having come under our observation, in an unofficial form, that the officers of the How-It having come under our offservation, in an unofficial form, that the officers of the Howard association thought it necessary to cause an investigation into the conduct of Mr. A. G. Reynaud, their acting secretary, we feel that it would be a dereliction of duty on our part were we to permit this matter to pass unnoticed. We announce to the world, with sincere pride and pleasure, that the character and fair fame of this city, the Howard association and Mr. Reynaud have been completely vindicated, after a most thorough, searching and impartial investigation, for which the thanks of this community are especially due to your honor and the attorney general, as well as the association.

We cannot refrain from adding that credit is likewise due to Mr. Reynaud for his patient submission to this trying ordeal, which has resulted so triumphantly for him.

It should be a matter of infinite pride to every citizen to be able to say to those noble sonls who responded so promptly and so generously to the cries for help from our stricken city, that their contributions have never been misappropriated.
